TIMES GO BY TURNS.

Turning the thoughts back to the poets of old times, memory lights on a powerful composition by Robert Sonthwell. The singular condensation of language and ideas in the following poem, will strike the least attentive reader. It would be well if, in this respect, our modern authors would follow the example of their predecessors. Writers of the rresent day are as diffuse as those of the Elizabethian age were sententious. The latter had more thoughts than words—the former have more words than thoughts—the one condensed an original idea into a single line—the others spread a single idea over

The lopped tree in time may grow again; Most naked plants renew both fruit and flowers: The sorriest wight may find release from pain ; The driest soil suck in some moistening showers; Times go by turns and chances change by course From foul to fair—from better hap to worse.

The sea of fortune doth not ever flow-She draws her favors to the lowest ebb. Her tides have equal times to come and go-Her loom doth weave the fine and coarsest web-No joy so great, but runneth to an end; No hap so hard but may in fine amend.

Not always fall of leaf, nor ever spring-No endless night, nor yet eternal day; The saddest bird a season finds to sing, The roughest storm a calm may soon allay; Thus, with succeeding turns, God tempereth all, That man may hope to rise, yet fear to fall.

A chance may win what by mischance was lost; That net that holds no great, takes little fish; In some things all, in all things none are cross'd; Few money need, but none have all the wi.h; Universal joys here to no man befall; Who least, hath some; who most, hath never all

GAMES OF CHANCE-VEXATION OF DE-FEAT.—I have heard a story of two persons playing at backgammon, one of whom was so enraged at losing his match at a particular point of the game, that he took the board and threw it out the window. It fell upon the head of one of the passengers in the street, who came up to demand instant satisfaction for the affront and injury he had sustained. The losing gamester only asked him if he understood backgammon, and finding that he did, said, that if upon seeing the state of the game he did not excuse the ex- Merino and Cotton Ho- Hosiery in great varitravagance of his conduct, he would give him any other satisfaction he wished for. The tables were accordingly brought, and the situation of the two contending parties being explained, the gentleman put up his sword, and went away perfectly | Piano and Table Covers satisfied .- Hazlitt.

How to DO UP SHIRT BOSOMS .- We often hear ladies expressing a desire to and fine gingham Umbrellas. know by what process the gloss on new linens, shirt bosoms, &c., is produced, and in order to gratify them, we subjoin the following recipe: "Take two ounces of fine white gum arabic powder—put it in a pitcher, and Just RECKIVED, from the New York arabic powder—put it in a pitcher, and pour on a pint or more of water, accord- in part of, vis: ing to the degree of strength you desire-and then, having covered it, let it set all night-in the morning pour it carefully from the dregs into a clean bottle, cork it, and keep for use. A tablespoonful of gum water stirred into a pint of starch, made in the usual manner, will give to lawns, either white or printed, a look of newness, when nothing else can restore them after wash-

ENTHUSIASTIC, VERY .- An enthusiastic admirer of the fair sex, gives vent to the following eloquent strain:

"A woman will cling to the chosen object of her heart like a possum to a gum tree, and you can't separate her without snapping strings that no art can mend, and leave a portion of her soul upon the upper leather of her affections. She will sometimes see something to love, where others can see nothing to admire, and when her fondness is once fastened on a fellow, it sticks like glue and molasses in a bushy head of hair.'

The first money ever received by Thomas Carlyle for any book of his, was remitted to him from Boston, he always having published on the "half-profit" principle, and the English publisher's balance-sheet never showing any profits to halve. This money was for the reprint of Miscellanies; and this was after he had achieved an illustrious reputation as auther of The French Revolution, which, together with his earlier works, was out of print.

TABLE CIVILITIES .- "Shall I help you to some butter?" said a landlady of a cheap boarding-house to one of her guests. "Don't trouble yourself," was the reply, "the butter is plenty strong enough to help itself."

Bidders are referred to the yard for more particular description of the articles, &c. Contractors for classes headed "Miscellaneous," who do not reside near the place where the articles are to be delivered, will be required to name in their proposals an agent at the city or principal place near the yard of delivery, who may be called upon to deliver articles when they shall be required. The periods of delivery of all building materials must conform to the schedule.

Approved sureties, in the full amount of the con trant, will be required, and twenty per centum, as additional security, deducted from each payment until the contract shall have been completed or cancelled, unless otherwise authorzed by the department. On classes headed "Miscellaneous" to be delivered as required during the fiscal year, the twenty per centum retained may, at the discretion of the commandant, be paid quarterly on the first of Janu ary, April, July, and October, when the deliveries have been satisfactory; the balance (eighty per cent.) will be paid by the navy agent at within thirty days after the presentation of bills in triplicate, duly vouched and approved. No part of the per cen um reserved is to be paid until all re ected articles offered under the contract shall have emoved from the yard, unless specially authorized by the department.

It will be stipulated in the contract that, if defaul shall be made by parties of the first part in deliver ing all or any of the articles mentioned of the qualit and at the times and places above provided, then and in that case, the said parties will forfeit and pay to the United States, as liquidated damages, a sur of money equal to twice the amount of the contract price herein agreed upon as the price to be paid for the articles in case of the actual delivery thereof, which liquidated damages may be recovered from time to time as they accrue.

The sureties must sign the contract, and certify that they, in the aggregate, are worth over and above their debts and liabilities the full amount of Each offer must be signed by the person or persons making it, and by the guarantors, according to the form annexed; and their residence, naming the town and State, must be distinctly stated. It is to be provided in the contract that the bureau shall have the power of annulling the contract, without loss or damage to the government, in case Congress shall not have made sufficient appropriations for the articles named, or for the completion of the works estimated for, and on which this advertisement is based. Persons whose offers shall be accepted will be notified by letter through the post office, which no tice shall be considered sufficient; and if they do not enter into contract for the supplies specified within fifteen days from the date of notice from this bureau of the acceptance of their bid, a contract will be made with some other person or persons, and the guaranters of such defaulting bidder will be held responsible for all delinquencies.

All offers not made in strict conformity with this advertisement will, at the option of the bureau, be rejected. Those only whose offers may be accepted will be notified, and contracts will be ready for execution without delay by the navy agent at and in case of any question arising in the course of executing the contract, it must be settled by the terms of, without going behind, that instrument.
